MASEFIELD TO SPEAK ON ENGLISH POETRY

"Sailor Poet" Returned from the Dardanelles

Mr. John E. Masefield, who will lecture on English Poetry in the Gymnasium, Saturday, January 22d, is now in this country for the first time since 1896. When here before he is said to have supported himself by odd jobs in livery stables and bakeries, finally getting a steady job at ten dollars a month in a New York saloon. He now returns as one of the foremost English poets. His work, Dr. Chew thinks, is more significant than that of any other modern poet except Mr. Hardy.

Will Not Discuss the War

Mr. Masefield has said that he does not intend to lecture on the war, although he has served several months in the Dardanelles as a stretcher-bearer. In the front line trenches, only 50 yards from the enemy's line. "Then the man behind you drops dead", he said, "and that is how the war goes. When you have served some time on the ambulance corps your feeling for the wounded becomes so intense that you would rather lose your right arm than drop the stretcher".

Some of the best known works of Mr. Masefield are "The Everlasting Mercy", "Dauber", "The Daffodil Fields", "The Widow in the Bye Street", "Philip the King" and a volume of poems and ballads. His recent book on Synge, the Irish dramatist, is in the New Book Room in the Library.

Mr. Masefield will lecture before the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia on Tuesday, January 18th, subject, "An Evening of Poetry".

COURSES TO BE LIGHTENED

Undergraduate Board Meets President Thomas

On Tuesday, January 11th, the Advisory Board of the Undergraduate Association met with President Thomas to discuss the question of overwork. The conclusion reached was that about half the courses, especially the reading courses, require too much work. President Thomas proposed to have the work in these courses cut down. She stated that she considered eight hours a day the maximum which should be spent on academic work, and that seven hours is not too short. Four hours' work should be sufficient for the week-ends, she thought. President Thomas also mentioned the excessive cutting, and said that some stringent measures must be adopted to stop it.

The Seniors did not consider their class overworked. The other classes, especially the Juniors, felt that they were too busy. The courses were discussed one at a time and it was decided that those which required too much time were: English, minor, major, and general, both Literature and Composition; History of Art; Major Physics; Major Chemistry; Economics, major and minor.

This was the first meeting which the Advisory Board has held in its new capacity as an Advisory Committee to President Thomas. The members of the board are the officers of the Undergraduate Association, and four class representatives, M. Russell, C. Hall, L. Hodges, and E. Marquand.

DR. CHAMBERS ONE TIME PRISONER OF WAR

Will Preach Sunday Evening

The Rev. W. N. Chambers, D.D., will preach on Sunday night, January 22d, about the present condition in Turkey and his personal experiences there. Dr. Chambers is a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. He has spent thirty years in Turkey, where his work has been the evangelization of the natives. He was in Erzerum when the massacres of the Armenians occurred in 1896, and in 1906 he witnessed the massacres at Adana, where he was able to protect the lives of many of the persecuted Christians. When the war broke out in 1914 Dr. Chambers, as a British subject, would probably have been sent to the interior into exile, but as a missionary of the American Board he was allowed to remain at Adana, although during the winter he was interned and taken prisoner of war for a short time. By this fall, however, the persecution of the Armenians and the following situation made it seem best for citizens of belligerent countries who were missionaries to leave the country. He is now engaged in Armenian relief work in this country. Dr. Chambers is the father of D. Chambers, '19.

NEWSPAPER STARTED AT GOUCHER

Goucher College, Baltimore, issued the first number of a weekly newspaper on January 13th. Two members of the newspaper's board, S. Tilghman and K. Treide, played on the Goucher basketball team against Bryn Mawr last April.

DR. KINGSBURY ONE OF THE MISSION CLASS LEADERS

Three Other Classes to Be Given

Philosophy, Social Problems, Turkey, and Old Testament Biography, will be studied in the classes which run for ten weeks during the second semester, beginning February the 9th. These classes meet regularly at 7.30 Wednesday evenings.

Dr. Kingsbury will give the class on the study of social problems in Room C. Taylor. She will give a general introduction to the course in the first two classes and will secure experts along various lines to give some of the other talks. The general topics of study will probably be: "The General Importance of Settlement Work", "Reform Work with Girls", "Politics in Social Work", and "Opportunities of Work in Bryn Mawr Village".

Kate Chambers Seelye, '11, and Dorothea Chambers, '19, will give a foreign mission class in Denbigh 37, on Turkey, where they have both spent a large part of their lives. "Religious Problems of Philosophy", especially those suggested by a general course of Philosophy at college, will be given by Miss Agnes L. Tierney in the C. A. Library. She is a member of the Germantown Society of Friends, and a leader in thought and writing on religious subjects. A class on the study of Old Testament Biography will be led by Mary Branson, '16, in Rockefeller 41.

The chairman of the Bible and Mission Study Classes, Miss Scattergood, says that these classes are designed primarily for those who will show a definite interest and attend regularly. The different topics to be studied and the plans for leaders of wide experience, she thinks, seem to have aroused some general interest, although the canvass has not yet been made. The classes will be further explained by a personal canvass and by literature on the subject.

UNDERGRADUATES VOTE FOR ENDOWMENT CHAIR AS MEMORIAL

At a meeting of the Undergraduate Association on Tuesday, January 11th, it was voted that the undergraduates join the alumnae in working for the endowment of a chair as a memorial to Miss Garrett.

Dr. Marlon Parris Smith, 1901, addressed the association and stated that, in her opinion, the Alumnae Association would favor endowment of a new chair as a memorial to Miss Garrett, rather than the Students' Building. She pointed out that the Alumnae Association with two thousand members has in the last few years raised $1,365,000, the largest amount ever raised by an Alumnae Association of this size in a similar time. In spite of this amount, she said, the college is at present only able to meet expenses and has been unable to increase any salaries except those of the full professors since it was founded in 1885.

After speaking, Mrs. Smith withdrew and it was proposed that the matter be laid on the table until after Mid-years. The motion was defeated and it was then moved and voted that the undergraduates join the alumnae in working for the endowment fund. The Alumnae Association will be told of the undergraduates' decision at its meeting on Saturday, January 29th.

CHANCE FOR THE REVOLUTIONARY

Discussions of C. A. With a View to Change

Changes and improvements of the Christian Association will be discussed at a series of Wednesday evening meetings after mid-years by those who approve and those who disapprove of any of its present phases. The chairman of the Wednesday evening meetings committee says that there are those not much interested in the C. A. who think they will take a more active part if some things are changed; the purpose of these meetings is to give a chance for criticism and therefore for progress. President Smith has said that any suggestions which meet with approval in these meetings will be proposed in a general meeting of the association. The different phases of the Christian Association work will be taken up separately. "The Ideal Association and its Place in College", led by A. Werner, '16; "The Philanthropic Work", M. Scattergood, '17; "Informal Meetings", C. Hall, '17; "Formal Meetings", M. Gardiner, '19.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY DOLLARS FROM ALUMNAE

About one hundred and sixty dollars has been received from the alumnae who are associate members of the Christian Association in response to the pledge cards sent out about a month ago. Seventy-three have responded, according to K. Blodgett, the treasurer, or about 25 per cent of those to whom cards were sent. The dues are one dollar, but many of the members add a contribution.

The result of the undergraduate canvass has not yet been announced, but almost all of the dues are in and a fair number of the students are said to have pledged something.

CHAMPIONSHIP AWARD TO ONE CLASS TO BE DECIDED UPON

Athletic Board Arranges System of Points

The Athletic Board has formulated a plan for the winning of Athletic Championship as a whole by one class. This plan is to award a certain number of points for each athletic event which the class may win, first team championship in a major sport, that is, in hockey, basketball or water-polo counting most, and grading down from that. The board has fixed points for some teams which are as yet non-existent, but with this plan it is hoped that more people will come out for the various sports. If this

Entered as second-class matter September 26, 1914, at the post office at Bryn Mawr, Pa., under the Act of March 3, 1879

On account of the mid-year examinations and the vacation which follows, there will be no issue of "The News" until February 10th.

Now that the season of examinations has come and that the College is analyzing its knowledge of tariff and of acids, of Chaucer and of Royce, "The News" has determined to call attention to the ignorance of the unobserving student. A Sophomore who could probably have located Gallipoli was heard inquiring, the other day, "Where is the magazine room?" and the tale of the note addressed to the leader of the Student Volunteer Band, which was carried by a Freshman to the choir leader, will probably pass into history with the story of the person who asked at the book shop for an English reader.

As a suggestion for some ambitious statistician who wishes to supplement the Finding List and the C. A. Handbook by a "Who's Who and What's What", we suggest the following questions:

- I. How old is the Gym?
- II. Who are the College architects?
- III. Distinguish between Taylor Hall and Hall the Taylor?
- IV. Who founded the College and who have been its presidents?
- V. What has become of the Trophy Club?
- VI. What does "Bryn Mawr" mean?
- VII. What caused the Denbigh fire? When did it occur?
- VIII. Who endowed the Potato Fund? The Ice Cream Fund?
- IX. Analyze by taste and smell the chemicals in the swimming pool?

Chance for Criticism of the C. A.

To the Editor of "The College News":

To the Editor of "The College News":

Elsewhere in this edition of "The News" will be found an announcement of the new plan for Wednesday evening meetings after mid-years. The first four are to be discussions, not of religious subjects, but of the policy and organization of the Christian Association. This association does more different kinds of work than any other in College, and at the same time it is more criticized than any other. But a large number of the criticisms are vague or impractical, and those who made them have not taken sufficient interest in them to try to correct the evils they condemn. Perhaps one reason for this is because they felt that little attention was paid to them; but the President of the Christian Association has promised that any valuable suggestions made at these informal talks will be taken up and voted on in a big meeting. With this opportunity to make changes, there will be no reason for anyone to withhold her active support from the Christian Association on account of dissatisfaction with the execution of its ideals. So we earnestly hope that there will come to these Wednesday evening meetings all those who aren't interested in the Christian Association, all those who feel that it isn't a power in the community, and all those who feel that it is inefficient!

1919 Writes to Foreign Students

To the Editor of "The College News":

The Federation Committee feels much encouraged by the interest that the Class of 1919 is showing in its work. On January 10th, the Federation Committee asked some 28 Freshmen to come to a meeting to discuss writing to women students in foreign universities in order to find out a little about the Christian work in these centers. Twenty-five Freshmen came and of these seven immediately volunteered to write, while many more said they would like to do it, but would wait until after mid-years to volunteer.

If there is anybody else in College that would like to write such a letter will she come to me (68 Rockefeller) for the address as soon as possible in order to get an answer this year. The countries already taken are Austria, Argentina, Rumania, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Japan, France, Germany, and India.

MR. KING'S PROGRAM HAMLET

Recital Makes $155 for Polish Relief Fund

On Friday evening Mr. Samuel Arthur King gave a Shakespearean recital for the Benefit of the Polish Relief Fund. The program was entirely made up of scenes from "Hamlet". An encore was given at the end of the evening, Mercutio's description of Queen Mab, from "Romeo and Juliet".

Mr. King began with the court scene in which Hamlet plans to go to Wittenberg and the queen begs him to stay; next, the scene on the ramparts with the ghost, and the great soliloquy at the end of Act II. In the scene with Ophelia, where Polonius and the king are hidden, Mr. King said that he followed Edmund Keane's tradition, in which Hamlet is supposed to know that the king is behind the curtain. He also quoted Coleridge to support this interpretation.

Persons Skillfully Distinguished

Mr. King next gave Hamlet's advice to the players, and then the entire play scene, where the distinction between the persons speaking was skillfully made. Act III, Scene 3, where Hamlet chides his mother, and his father's ghost appears, came next, and finally the graveyard scene, with Laertes' lament over the body of Ophelia.

S. H. ATHERTON, '13, MAKES NOTABLE REPORT ON GIRLS IN INDUSTRY

The report on the conditions among the young working girls of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., which has just been published by the National Consumers' League of New York, was made by Sarah H. Atherton, '13. Miss Atherton's survey is not the usual dreary compilation of facts, but, according to all those who have read it at first hand, it is an exceedingly human document. The object of the report is to present the facts in the lives of girls from 14 to 16 years of age, who come from working homes in the coal regions and have left school to make money by their own efforts.

It was found that 79 per cent of the girls gave all they earned to the family. Only 9 per cent kept all their pay. Of 281 girls there were but 7 who worked for pin-money or pretty clothes.

Music and Movies Favorite Amusements
In giving their favorite amusements, the majority preferred moving pictures or music. Reading held third place; church, theatre, and Y. W. C. A. came fourth; and outdoor sports were last. "Talking" was the favorite amusement of one girl. Another put down "whispering the baby carriage".

The work covered by the report is referred to in the newspapers as the first almost entirely volunteer investigation of its kind in the country. At present Miss Atherton has a position in Philadelphia inspecting housing conditions.

MISS SWINDLER PUBLISHES ARTICLE ON GREEK VASES

Miss Swindler published an article in the last issue of the "American Journal of Archaeology" on Greek Vases in New York and Boston collections and one in the Bryn Mawr collection. Miss Swindler has written an article on the vases in the collection owned by the College which will appear in a later number of the "American Journal of Archaeology".

RED CROSS FILLS THREE BOXES

Faculty Co-operate with Committee in Rolling Bandages

Boxes for Poland, Belgium, and magazines for the English soldiers have been sent off this semester. The Red Cross Committee, together with the faculty, who worked every Wednesday evening in Cartref Sitting-room, have made 1266 bandages, 642 compresses, 10 mufflers, 2 caps, 10 pairs of socks, 1300 handkerchiefs, dressings, and 6300 sponges.

$300.00 More Needed

During this last semester the committee collected $351.95, of which $241.38 has been spent on materials, and $20.00 given to the Belgium Dollar Christmas Fund. The committee has also sold 44 "Belgium Cook Books", at $1.50 each, of which 75 cents on every book went to the Pennsylvania Committee of the Commission for Relief in Belgium. The Red Cross Committee must raise $300.00 next semester to carry on the work.

Chocolate and Tobacco for the French Soldiers

The plans for next semester will be announced after mid-years. Madame Cons has asked for bags for the French soldiers in the trenches, containing cards, tobacco, chocolate, etc. These are to be contributed as well as the surgical supplies.

CAMPUS NOTES

President Thomas made an address on "College Education for Girls" before the members and friends of the Bryn Mawr Club of Boston last Saturday.

Three new books have been added to the Denbigh Fiction Library: "The Search Party", by George Birmingham; "The City of Pleasure", by Arnold Bennett; "The Mascot of Sweet Briar Gulch", by Phillips. These books have been given in answer to a plea from the Librarian for books that are no longer of use to their owners. The dues of the Fiction Library are so small that it is impossible to keep the Library supplied with new books except by such donations.

Deaconess Greene will speak at the Wednesday meeting on the work of one of the leading colleges in India. This college is supported by the Deaconess' College, of which Miss Greene is a graduate. Miss Greene is studying at Bryn Mawr this year for her doctor's degree and holds a scholarship in Semitic languages and Biblical literature. She is the first deaconess who has entered the graduate school.

The Chess Tournament will start on the first Monday after mid-years. The players will be C. Crowell, '16; M. Scattergood, '17; K. Blodgett, '17; A. Kerr, '18; R. Rhoads, '18; M. Rupert, '18; L. Peters, '19; A. Snively, '19. Practices have been held weekly in Miss Crowell's room, who is president of the club.

There are 163 members of the Bryn Mawr College chapter of the Equal Suffrage League. Of those who are not members, 70 voted against suffrage at the time of the straw vote, and 121 have announced themselves indifferent.

Dr. Eunice Schenck will return to college February 1st.

During mid-years gymnasium practice will be held daily from 5 to 6.

Ethel Andrews is the Self-government representative for 1919.

E. P. Dutton & Co. are publishing a book by Dr. Oris Hatcher, "A Guide for Shakespeare Production and Pageants". Dr. Hatcher, who was for some years Associate Professor of Comparative and Elizabethan Literature at Bryn Mawr, left last year in order to devote more time to writing.

Elizabeth Granger has been elected Vice-President of the Philosophy Club in place of P. Curtin, '17, who resigned.

NEW COURSES ANNOUNCED

Dr. Kate Gordon has changed the subject of her major course from Educational Psychology to Applied Psychology. The course is five hours a week at 9 o'clock.

Dr. Gray will give History of the Renaissance Period instead of the English History for the five-hour major history at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Savage will give a new five-hour major English course on Nineteenth Century fiction, which will deal with the Elizabethan novelle and novels and their relation to later English fiction; the antecedents of the Nineteenth Century Novel, romance and short story and the development of these types up to the present day. Special consideration will be given to picaresque fiction and to the detective story, and some account may be taken of foreign relationships. The main emphasis will be thrown upon reading, and 100 hours of reading will be included in the course.

Miss King will give a new elective course on Modern Art open to students who have completed the three-hour minor courses in History of Art. The lectures will deal with the Barbizon School, the Pre-Raphaelite, and the Impressionist Movement, and Post-Impressionism, including the Cubists and Futurists.

"WHERE IS GALIPOLI?"

Women Students Excel in Quiz on War

Last week Dr. Leake gave his class in modern history the test on the European war which has revealed the students' ignorance of current events in Bowdoin College and in New York University. In Barnard College, where the same test was given, the average mark was 74.5 per cent, against 58 per cent for the men in New York University and in Bowdoin. As the questions at Bryn Mawr were asked of the History students, instead of the students in general, it is impossible to make accurate comparisons. "Where is Gallipoli?" however, the stumbling-block everywhere else, was fairly well answered here.

MR. NASMYTH DISCUSSES INTERNATIONAL QUESTIONS

Advocates World Federation

"We must abolish war by organizing politically", said Mr. George W. Nasmyth Saturday night in his speech on Federation against International Anarchy. Mr. Nasmyth has travelled extensively in the belligerent countries and is now closely connected with the peace movement. He began by speaking of the philosophy of force which is predominant at present especially in Germany, and compared the present struggle between the countries of Europe with the struggle between the thirteen original States of America during the critical period from 1783 to 1789. Just as the quarrels and warfare between the States were ended by the establishment of a strong central power, Congress and the Supreme Court, he said, so the international problems of today can be solved by a process of federation.

Women to Reconstruct Ideas

In this first step to prevent international anarchy, says Mr. Nasmyth, America should take the lead. He maintains that there should be a Supreme Court of Justice, before which nations must place their cases before entering into war. He pointed out that although such a measure may not avert war, it will at least delay the issue until the whole nation can decide for itself. "We must precede the reconstruction of society by the reconstruction of ideas", he said. He pointed out that this was a task for the universities and especially for the women, who, not having played a large part in public affairs up to the present day, have sounder traditions on which to build society.

Federation to Bring Higher Patriotism

Mr. Nasmyth spoke of the great patriotism shown in the war, but he emphasized a higher patriotism which has been kept from developing by international anarchy, a patriotism not only for one's country, but for the whole world community. "It is the duty of the coming generation", he said, "to construct these higher ideals. Conditions as they exist do not allow for a New Testament doctrine of love, but merely for an old tribal religion with a god of battle and vengeance".

COMMERCIAL DESIGN STUDENTS
FILL ORDERS WHILE LEARNING

Mary Tongue, '13, Takes Course

A course in Commercial Design has been established this year at the Maryland Institute of Arts and Design, by Mr. Carol M. Sax. The work is divided into three lines—advertising, costume-design and specialization and is done in great part to fill actual orders. Mary V. Tongue, 1913, is taking the course.

Last year, in work done almost entirely outside of the school, the nucleus of this present class earned over one thousand dollars. This year they have already done better. Miss Tongue says of the course: "Mr. Sax's idea seems to be that work done as a job and not as mere practice will, and must be, up to a professional standard; that working so, the student graduates an experienced workman with results and experiences that no amount of mere class room drill could give, and is able to command a professional's wage".

THERMOMETERS MAY CHANGE

A bill has lately been introduced into Congress to replace all Fahrenheit thermometers by Centigrade. Several members of the Cornell faculty have endorsed the bill in recent letters to Washington and agree that the advantages of the centigrade scale for scientific work make the change practical.

STUDENT FIRE BRIGADE DRILLS WITH LADDER AND HOSE

Men Demonstrate Complete Drill in Three Minutes

The first regular outdoor fire drill of the students' fire fighting brigade was held on Friday morning with the men who work on the Campus. The men first demonstrated the able way in which they have been drilled by Mr. Tom Foley, taking the hose-cart and ladder from the shed behind Merlon and running with it to a hydrant at the back of Radnor. The ladder was raised to the roof, the hose unrolled from the cart and fastened to the hydrant, and the men then carried the hose up the ladder, making it possible to have a stream of water on the roof in less than three minutes from the time they left Merlon. The apparatus was brought back to Merlon and the students repeated the men's performance though they had to be helped. After a few more drills it is hoped that they will be able to get a line of hose to any building as promptly and as efficiently as the men.

ALUMNAE NOTES

The annual meeting of the Alumnae Association will be held in the Chapel on next Saturday, January 29th, at 11.00 o'clock. The new business which is on the program is a discussion of the memorial to Miss Garrett. All Seniors and those who expect to receive Ph.D.'s this spring are invited to attend the meeting.

A letter to the "Public Ledger" mentioning the uniqueness of the Bryn Mawr alumnae movement in establishing a fund for the investigation of fire prevention, as a gift to the public, says: "Natural and almost inevitable as the proposed relationship between a group of citizens and the State would seem to be in a democracy, no similar movement is on record in the United States".

A recent hockey game played by the Bryn Mawr alumnae of Boston against the Radcliffe Varsity, was won by the alumnae by a score of 4-3. Among those playing were: M. Young, '08; K. Page Loring, '13; L. Haydock, '13; R. Harrington, ex-'15.

Anne Haddon, '15, is studying First Aid and Home Nursing in New York.

HOW TO WRITE FOR THE MOVIES

"How to Write for the Movies" is a text-book built on personal experience. Its author, Louella O. Parsons, for many years was a scenario editor for a large picture-producing company and has studied her subject from every angle. Such important matters as the copyright law and the market for saleable stories are discussed, as well as the technique of the scenario itself.
